CIVIL LAW

Civil Procedure
An internet service provider is not entitled to defend against a defamation lawsuit alleging sending unwanted emails to a gay rights group and a church.

By Fiona Smith Daily Journal Staff Writer

The state Supreme Court unanimously ruled Monday that real estate judges must act as “gatekeepers” and exclude expert testimony that is speculative and based on faulty logic.

Litigation

Making his own way
Judge Joseph Parnell, personal history told him, but he defies mediocrity.

Learning on the go
One of the most difficult tasks facing general counsel today is how to effectively manage an intellectual property case.

State courts can now vet some expert witness testimony

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act

By Byrdie Robinsom Daily Journal Staff Writer

Defense attorneys did not get the specifics they were hoping for when the government issued new standards for the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act earlier this month.

Some say FCPA guide lacks specificity

White-collar lawyers wanted more guidance in new standards for 1977 act
PERSPECTIVE

SAN FRANCISCO DAILY JOURNAL

PAGE 6 • TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 2012

I want you’...to help veterans find jobs

By Adam Garvan and Christian Orozco

The San Diego community needs to come together to help its veterans struggling with unemployment. Many of our active-duty service members are leaving the military and transitioning to their next chapter. However, the unemployment rate among veterans cannot feel good. It is the highest it has been in recent years.

Currently, 9.7 percent of the nation’s post-9/11 veterans are unemployed. This figure is alarming considering the national unemployment rate in the country is only 7.8 percent.

Members of the San Diego community are working hard to begin to address this problem, but one group that is often overlooked are non-profit organizations.

For those residents, the goal is to create a workforce that is ready to enter the job market and be a valuable part of the local economy.

Robert Wood

California’s unrivaled capacity for innovation

By Robert Wood

California is an attorney at the San Diego Workforce Partnership.

It’s true that you live in California. But California’s high taxes are another story. And with Gov. Jerry Brown’s victory in November, the tax hike looms even larger.

But if you want to move to the state, an attorney at the San Diego Workforce Partnership.

Fortunately for California tax advisors, though, the men you called a “tax freeze” are on your side.

Not surprisingly, when you are employed in California, there is a wealth of opportunities and resources available to you. You can take advantage of the post-World War II expansion, or you can simply enjoy the benefits of living in one of the world’s greatest cities.

Robert Wood is a tax lawyer with a national practice in California. He represents clients in all aspects of California law, including taxation, real estate, trusts and estates, business formation, and employment law. He can be reached at WoodLLP.com.

Saying sayonara to California, for tax purposes

By Robert Wood

If you’re looking to change your domicile, the first thing you should consider is whether you intend to remain in California or move to another state.

For those who are looking to move to another state, it’s important to understand the tax consequences of doing so.

For example, if you are planning to relocate to another state, it’s important to consider the tax implications of doing so. In some cases, relocating to another state may result in a reduction of your overall tax liability.

Unfortunately, this is not the case in California, where the tax burden is much higher than in many other states.

Fortunately, Californians have a unique advantage in that they can choose to be tax residents or non-residents.

Depending on your situation, you may be able to reduce your tax liability by choosing to be a non-resident.

To learn more about how to qualify as a non-resident, contact a tax professional in your area.

Robert Wood is a tax lawyer with a national practice in California. He represents clients in all aspects of California law, including taxation, real estate, trusts and estates, business formation, and employment law. He can be reached at WoodLLP.com.

SUBMIT A COLUMN

If you referee a particular article, should include the date of the article and its author.

If you want to comment on one of our articles, please contact e-mail legal editor Ben Armistead at ben_armistead@dailyjournal.com.

PERSPECTIVE

SAN FRANCISCO DAILY JOURNAL

PAGE 6 • TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 2012

I want you’...to help veterans find jobs

By Adam Garvan and Christian Orozco

The San Diego community needs to come together to help its veterans struggling with unemployment. Many of our active-duty service members are leaving the military and transitioning to their next chapter. However, the unemployment rate among veterans cannot feel good. It is the highest it has been in recent years.

Currently, 9.7 percent of the nation’s post-9/11 veterans are unemployed. This figure is alarming considering the national unemployment rate in the country is only 7.8 percent.

Members of the San Diego community are working hard to begin to address this problem, but one group that is often overlooked are non-profit organizations.

For those residents, the goal is to create a workforce that is ready to enter the job market and be a valuable part of the local economy.

Robert Wood

California’s unrivaled capacity for innovation

By Robert Wood

California is an attorney at the San Diego Workforce Partnership.

It’s true that you live in California. But California’s high taxes are another story. And with Gov. Jerry Brown’s victory in November, the tax hike looms even larger.

But if you want to move to the state, an attorney at the San Diego Workforce Partnership.

Fortunately for California tax advisors, though, the men you called a “tax freeze” are on your side.

Not surprisingly, when you are employed in California, there is a wealth of opportunities and resources available to you. You can take advantage of the post-World War II expansion, or you can simply enjoy the benefits of living in one of the world’s greatest cities.

Robert Wood is a tax lawyer with a national practice in California. He represents clients in all aspects of California law, including taxation, real estate, trusts and estates, business formation, and employment law. He can be reached at WoodLLP.com.

Saying sayonara to California, for tax purposes

By Robert Wood

If you’re looking to change your domicile, the first thing you should consider is whether you intend to remain in California or move to another state.

For those who are looking to move to another state, it’s important to understand the tax consequences of doing so.

For example, if you are planning to relocate to another state, it’s important to consider the tax implications of doing so. In some cases, relocating to another state may result in a reduction of your overall tax liability.

Unfortunately, this is not the case in California, where the tax burden is much higher than in many other states.

Fortunately, Californians have a unique advantage in that they can choose to be tax residents or non-residents.

Depending on your situation, you may be able to reduce your tax liability by choosing to be a non-resident.

To learn more about how to qualify as a non-resident, contact a tax professional in your area.

Robert Wood is a tax lawyer with a national practice in California. He represents clients in all aspects of California law, including taxation, real estate, trusts and estates, business formation, and employment law. He can be reached at WoodLLP.com.

SUBMIT A COLUMN

If you referee a particular article, should include the date of the article and its author.

If you want to comment on one of our articles, please contact e-mail legal editor Ben Armistead at ben_armistead@dailyjournal.com.